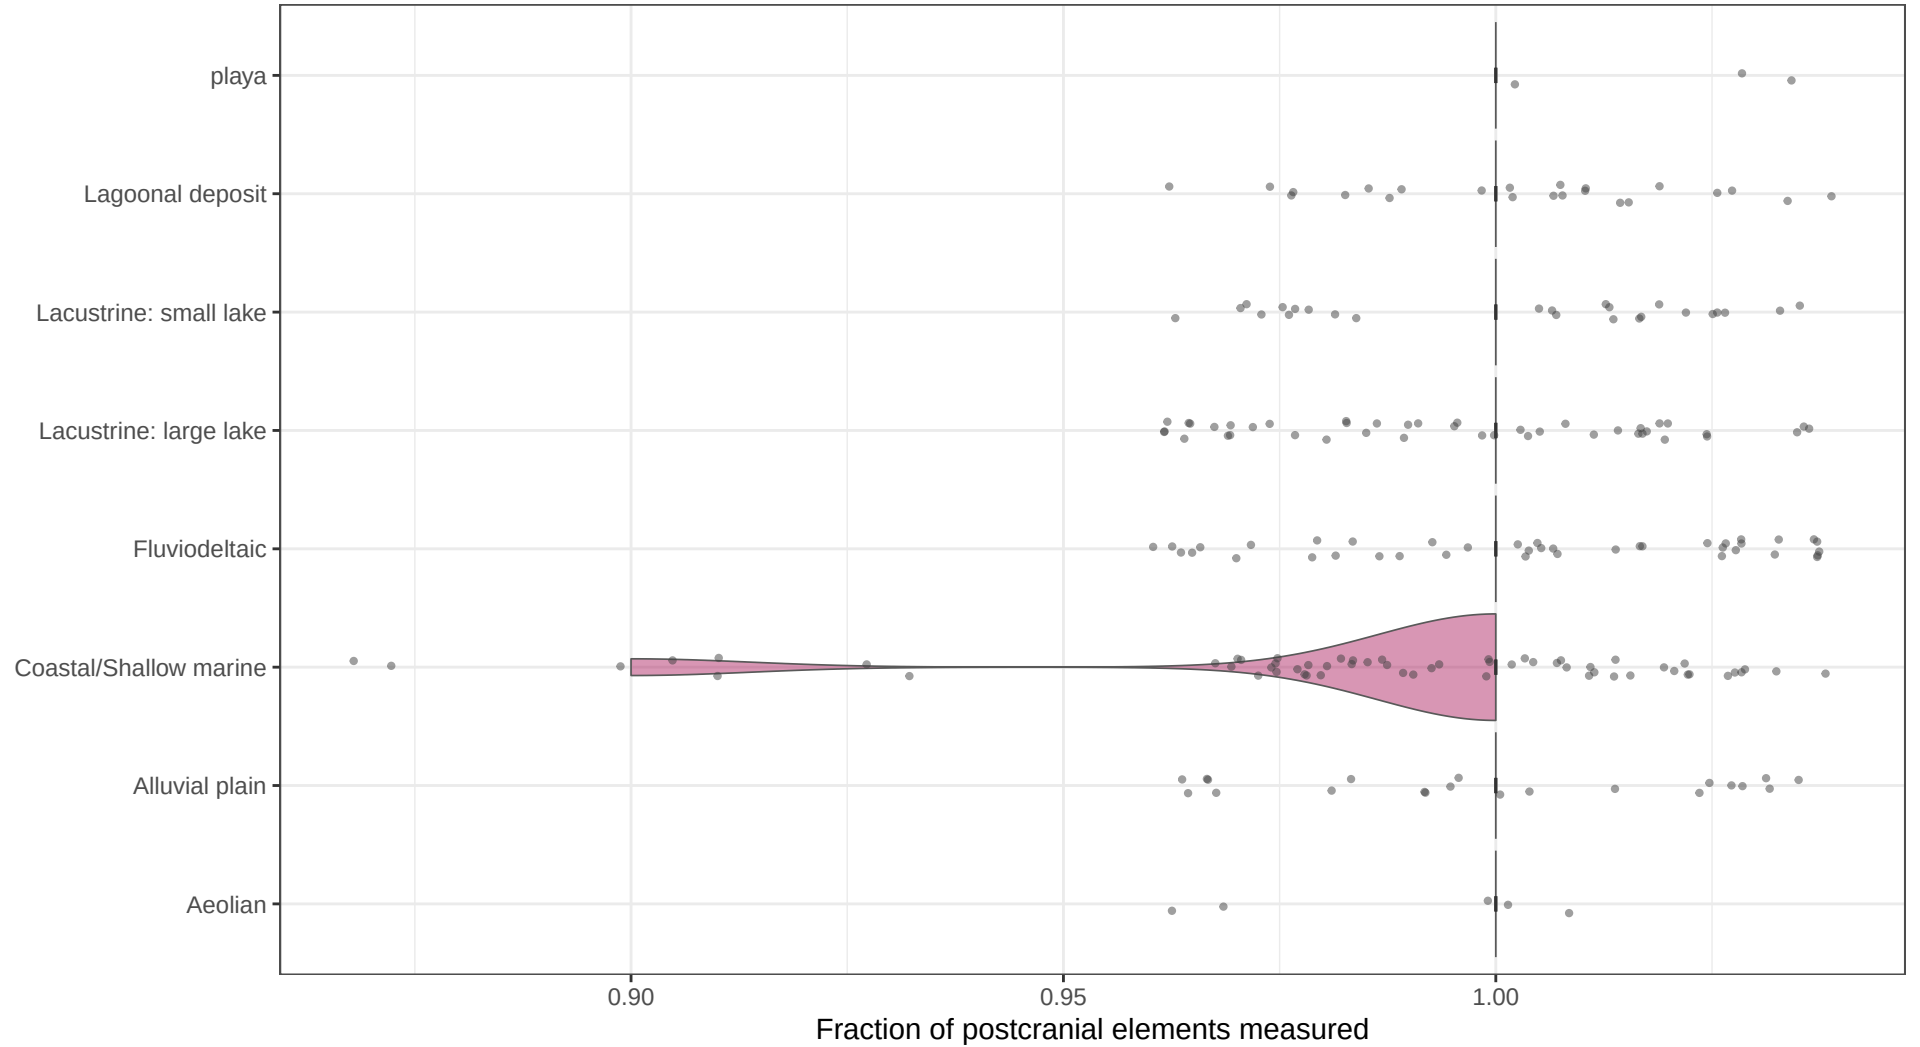
Skeletal completeness by depositional setting


A difference here means settings preserve differently, so any metric difference between them is confounded with preservation.